

“Tainan- The Origin of Taiwan; Anping- The Birthplace of Tainan”

Fastener World Team on a Bike Trip in the Century-old City

by Fastener World Inc.

Breath-taking dusk washes away the tiredness and energizes the staff to start refreshed.

In the beginning of August, the staff of Fastener World was planning for an entertaining and meaningful activity that would help replenish the energy and vigor of all colleagues having been working hard for so long. The first thing came to our minds was that, “Fastener World sits on this beautiful town in Taiwan and witnesses so many tourists around enjoying their holidays here every day, so why don't we have our own holiday trip in Anping?..."

“The history of Taiwan can be traced back to the emergence of Tainan, and Anping is the very place where all developments of Tainan started from,” says Guo-Ming Lin, Chief of Anping Dist. This district is one of the earliest developed regions among a total of 368 districts of Taiwan. About centuries ago, Anping (formerly called: ‘Daiwan’ or ‘Taioan’) was still under Dutch colonization, and the Dutch colonizers chose to station their army in the first and earliest town of Taiwan- Anping. Nowadays, the name “Taiwan” is regarded as originated from the old name of the town. Accordingly, Anping of Tainan is undoubtedly where the important history of Taiwan took place.

For so long, the team of Fastener World had always been working hard and trying to achieve goals we set for each step, in order to complete every task required by each customer's order and provide a diverse range of satisfying service. Likewise, we were also devoted to bringing customers in the fastener industry to the front line of the market by rolling out a series of marketing-informative publications, but how long had we not taken a short break and enjoyed the beauty of scenery just outside our doors?

Hence, in a weekend afternoon, we invited the Chief of Anping Dist., Mr. Guo-Ming Lin, to talk on the beauty of the century-old town (Anping), and later at dusk we took on a bike trip and enjoyed our moment of ease and comfort accompanied by the sunset. During the one and a half hour trip, we visited the fantastic historic scenic sites and witnessed the beauty of Anping which the local residents might not even have spared their time to experience, while simultaneously the golden dusk washed our pressure from work away. As depicted by a Taiwanese poet, the sunset of Anping is as fascinating as the elegant white egrets that are also personified to be obsessed with the beautiful sunset of Anping...

There is a ton of ways to have fun in Anping. If you plan a tour around the historic sites, you are suggested to visit the ancient Anping Fort, Eternal Golden Castle, Anping Tree House, Tait & Co., Ltd, Julius Mannich & Co, et al. If it is a snack tour, be sure to try candied fruits, shrimp cookies, oyster shrimp rolls, oyster omelets, tofu pudding, etc., Fastener World's President, William Liao, hopes to introduce the beauty of Tainan and the whole Taiwan via our publications after this wonderful event (tour), so that clients around the world may wish to have a chance to stay for one or two more days to appreciate the attractive scenery and history of Taiwan when they come here for purchase next time.
