

FASTENER SOURCE INC.

Trader features “Quality Guard” with Labs

New Plant in Tainan Rende Industrial Estate by Tanya Shih, Fastener World, Inc.

Fastener Source Inc. (FSI) specializes in fastener applications for automobiles, electronics, construction, and gardening. Since their inception in 1987, FSI has been dedicated to the supply of self-tapping screws, drywall screws, precision screws, nuts, bolts, and washers. As the fastener industry transformed, Fastener Source gradually adjusted its business strategy and began to target the “automotive” market. In addition, the company was certified by ISO 9001 and TAF(ISO 17025) to meet the high-standard requirement of automotive fastener suppliers and regulations for environmental protection in Europe, USA, and Asia.

Leading Automotive Fastener Supplier Just in Time! Just Considerate!

The new plant of Fastener Source located in Tainan Rende Industrial Estate officially opened in April 2013. The plant spans the area of over 660sqm with more functional labs and testing instruments and is able to provide just-in-time service, increasingly more accurate information, and the most professional techniques to customers.

President Norman Huang of Fastener Source majored in tourism and has a craze for sports, but he is also the man who can give in-depth answers to questions. It is these multiple backgrounds that give President Huang an exquisite point of view while serving his customers. Fastener Source is well experienced in fasteners and has recently extended its focus on automotive segment. Consequently, Fastener Source knows how to choose proper materials, set right procedures, and deliver products to customers with many options for prior sorting and professional packaging. Their employees strongly believe that if any step is recklessly taken care of, there will be unacceptable impacts on the quality of products. With no compromise to quality and just-in-time service, Fastener Source can thus take the lead in automotive fasteners.

Carefully Choosing Cooperative Companies for Future Growth

Being Not Tied up to Achieve 10-Year Plan

Fastener Source has been a reliable commercial medium among customers, manufacturers, and secondary processing facilities, helping them reach their highest profit and growth. Professional techniques and innovation are basic requirements for Fastener Source when choosing partners. As a result, President Huang thinks that “people” are the most important assets for a company, because “the action can be only initiated after a consensus is made internally.”

The growth seems to be really smooth and stable for Fastener Source in the past years, even though one accident that happened 4 years ago greatly influenced the life of President Huang. However, he has never faltered during his rehabilitation. Recalling this accident, President Huang said, “Thanks to the support of God, customers, suppliers, and employees, the company can continue to operate as before and even show more stable growth.”

Fastener Source should not only be considered a trader. It has a quality control system that rivals factories and provides drawing service and various products as well. Setting a goal to double the sales within 10 years is what President Huang and Fastener Source aim to achieve in return for the support of everyone. ■